

WILL CONSUL FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD TUESDAY

Representatives of Regional Banks to Hold Conference in Washington.

SEAY AND MONCURE TO ATTEND

Following This Meeting Prompt Steps Are Expected in Assembling Staff, Installing Furniture and Preparing for Opening of Reserve Bank.

Governor George J. Seay and Secretary James A. Moncure, of the Fifth District Reserve Bank, will leave for Washington to-day, where the boards of directors of the twelve reserve banks of the country will to-morrow confer with the Federal Reserve Board upon plans for the early inauguration of the reserve system.

The result of the conference is awaited with interest in Richmond and the eleven other cities in which reserve banks will be established. It is regarded as certain that at to-morrow's meeting the reserve board and the conferees will fix definitely upon the date for the opening of the banks and adopt such by-laws and regulations as the inauguration of the system will make necessary.

RICHMOND BANK FIRST TO PERFECT ORGANIZATION

The Richmond Reserve Bank was the first of the twelve to perfect a working organization and notify the governor of the reserve board that it was ready for business. In this task the bank's efforts were aided by the efforts of the other districts, which last Wednesday at the Jefferson Hotel, Governor Hamlin, of the Federal Reserve Board, complimented the promptness of the Fifth Reserve District board of directors. If the enterprise is displayed by the boards of the other districts, he said, the opening of the reserve banks will not be long delayed.

In an official statement last Thursday Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announced that the banks would be opened simultaneously. It had been the common belief previous to this announcement that the banks in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis would begin business in advance of the others.

WILL SOON BE READY TO ASSUME STAFF

After to-morrow's conference, Governor Seay believes, the board of directors of the Fifth Reserve District, which will be in a position to begin work on the task of assembling a staff and furnishing the building at 1109 East Main Street, which will be the temporary headquarters of the bank, last Friday, made an inspection of the building on the northeast corner of Fifth and Main Streets, presumably for the purpose of looking into its suitability for banking purposes. No announcement was made after the inspection.

It is understood that there will be no change for the present from the plan to establish temporary quarters at 1109 East Main Street, which is the old home of the Richmond Trust & Savings Company. The board has inspected several other properties. Until these needs are definitely known, no step will be taken towards erecting or leasing a permanent home for the Richmond Reserve Bank until these needs are definitely established.

COMPTROLLER HAS CALLED FOR FIRST SUBSCRIPTIONS

The Comptroller of the Currency has issued a call for the first installment of the capital stock subscriptions which the reserve act requires every member bank to make. The installment is payable on November 2. This circumstance and others give support to the belief that the reserve banks will be in actual operation by November 15.

The reserve act makes each member bank liable for subscriptions to the capital stock of the reserve bank, to the extent of 6 per cent of its combined capital and surplus. The installment payable November 2, calls one-sixth of the total subscription. It is stated that the payment of this installment will cause none of the member banks of the district any inconvenience.

In the local banking circles a lively interest is manifested in the probable plan to establish the bank, which it is understood that the bank will employ at the outset, between thirty and forty men and women, and scores of applications for these positions have been made with the board of directors and Governor Seay. The applications come from every section of the Fifth Reserve District. A considerable number are from persons at present employed in local banks.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS MEET HERE THIS WEEK

Hines, who lost his life in the Spotswood Hotel fire in an effort to save the life of a brother Pythian. The fund for this object, under the skillful management of a committee of which Captain J. R. Sheppard is chairman, has reached a sum of sufficient size to put the work in operation.

REPLIES TO DR. ELIOTT

Munsterberg Calls Harvard President Emeritus Anti-German Leader.

BOSTON, October 18.—Professor Hugo Munsterberg, commenting on the statement of Dr. Charles W. Elliott, president of Harvard University, that the United States would ultimately have to come to the aid of the allies, said to-day:

"I call Dr. Elliott the leader of the anti-German party in America. By his recent utterance he has aggravated opposition to and misunderstanding of Germany. Let us hope that the disloyal will be to a better understanding of Germany."

"I stand by all I have said."

Dr. Elliott, a professor of Munsterberg from Harvard and a former student of Dr. Elliott, said that he had been forced to leave the United States under pressure of public opinion, Captain Wiener, of London, whose reported bequest of $10,000,000 to Harvard has stirred university circles, has opened a new attack on Professor Munsterberg in a cable message to this country.

"It is quite true," he says, "that I have made such a will and shall revoke it if Professor Munsterberg is retained by Harvard. While Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador in Washington, is a valuable asset to England and her allies, Munsterberg is a liability to the United States."

"Still, I think his miserable representations will soon terminate and that the disloyal will be to a better understanding of Germany."

"I propose to my share toward realizing that end, anyhow."

reply, made public to-night, thanking President Wilson for his letter praising the action of the Democrats in Congress. Mr. Underwood said he and his colleagues felt that what they had accomplished was due largely to the President's magnificent leadership.

"I am sure," Mr. Underwood said, "that I can say for my colleagues, as well as myself, that although we have striven earnestly to keep our promise to the people and write on the statute books legislation in keeping with the progressive spirit of the times, we feel that it is largely due to your magnificent leadership that we have accomplished in one Congress more remedial legislation in the interest of the American people than has been accomplished by legislation in several decades before this Congress met."

"We cannot expect that the reforms inaugurated by your administration will be immediately demonstrated to their full effect. I feel sure that time will prove that the legislation which has been enacted at this Congress is the beginning of a new era of peace with our people at home and of peace with our people abroad."

ALDERMEN VOTE TO-NIGHT ON EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Creator of New Department of Municipal Service Up for Final Action.

PLAN IS HIGHLY INDORSED

Ordinance Lifting Veil of Secrecy From Hospitals in Treatment of Accident and Malicious Wounding Cases Also Up for Concurrence.

Falling of a quorum last Tuesday because of the rival attractions of the bankers' convention, the Board of Aldermen will meet to-night in deferred regular session to dispose of a docket crowded with important measures reported to it for concurrence by the Common Council. It is not believed that the bankers' convention will interfere with the meeting to-night.

Besides a number of measures that will come up for concurrence, the docket will contain several ordinances and resolutions, reported from committees, that will be up for passage. The most important of these is the ordinance creating the Richmond Public Employment Bureau, recommended for passage by the Committee on Ordinances at its Tuesday night meeting.

The employment bureau movement has had a varied history. It was inaugurated in the Council preceding this one by Councilman T. Gray Haddon, of Clay Ward, who introduced a resolution creating a municipal employment bureau after the General Assembly had amended the city charter so as to permit the municipality to launch this enterprise.

DIED IN OLD COUNCIL AND HAS BEEN REINTRODUCED

The Haddon ordinance was substantially the measure upon which the Board will act to-night, except that it would have provided for $1,200 a year for the manager and clerks, respectively, instead of $1,500 and $900, the salaries established by the pending ordinance. It was passed unanimously by the old Common Council.

The Finance Committee had reduced the salaries to $1,500 and $900, but was recommissioned by the Board of Aldermen at its Tuesday night meeting. The ordinance was reintroduced by Councilman Haddon, who, in common with other members of the Board, thought that the salary scale was too low.

The ordinance committee promptly reported it back to the Board. It was passed by the Common Council. This was a few days before the end of the councilmanial year, and it was found impossible to secure further action on the measure by the Board. The ordinance died on the calendar.

Opposition to the municipal employment bureau idea was registered in the old Council, and has been in the present Council by proprietors of private enterprises engaged in this business. It has been objected that a field of private activity and competition to business enterprises now adequately serving the general needs. Many of the private intelligence officers, it has been pointed out, have been in business in this city for many years, and are taxpayers, entitled to the same consideration that is shown honest citizens engaged in making an honest livelihood.

UNEMPLOYMENT PLACES BURDEN ON COMMUNITY

The establishment of a municipal employment bureau is highly indorsed by J. B. Doherty, State Commissioner of Labor. E. C. Davidson, president of the State Federation of Labor, and other authorities in touch with local labor conditions. Similar agencies, it is stated, are operated with success by a number of American cities and Commonwealths. The Seattle bureau, it is said, has perfected a system which enables it to find employment for its idle element at a cost of only 10 cents a person.

According to a recent statement of Commissioner Doherty, the city of Richmond has more than 8,000 people who are unemployed. A municipal bureau, he believes, would go far in reducing this number, saving to the social body an immense sum annually which the community is forced to pay as the price of idleness.

The ordinance provides for the appointment of a commission of five members by the Mayor, subject to approval by the Council, which is to have the direction of the bureau. To this body will be responsible the manager of the bureau, who will have active charge of the enterprise. Besides providing $2,400 for the salaries of the first year, the ordinance appropriates $600 for running expenses.

ORDINANCE REGULATES ACCIDENT HOSPITALS

Among the measures that will come up for concurrence to-night is the ordinance requiring hospitals to report to the police the names of patients who are injured or killed in accidents. The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Haddon, and is designed to protect citizens against the depreciation of pseudo inspectors and meter readers, who gain access to private homes and places of business for the purpose of robbery.

The Board will be asked to concur also in an ordinance introduced at the recommendation of the Administration Board, establishing a civic flag to be used by the city as its official banner on all public occasions.

ON MOTOR TRIP TO DETROIT

Thomas Edison, Wife and Son to Be Guests of Henry Ford.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NEW YORK, October 18.—Thomas A. Edison, with his wife and their son, Charles, left his West Orange home for a motor trip to Detroit, where they will be the guests of Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer.

"I'm starting off with some crude ideas," said the inventor, "and when I get back I'll have them advanced far enough to try to experiment on them."

"What shall you do in the evenings during your trip?"

"Go to the movies," he answered.

It is believed that Mr. Edison is deeply set on perfecting his idea for a new form of submarine—one built with "fins" and "gills" like a fish. He has a large tank in one of his laboratories and various kinds of fish in it. The inventor has sat for hours studying the movements of the fish.

HART ISSUES WARNING ON SLAUGHTER OF GAME

President of Audubon Society Calls on Concerted Conservation Movement.

WANTS VIOLATORS PROSECUTED

Suggests That Farmers Refuse to Permit Game-Hogs, Who Kill Every Bird in Covey, to Hunt on Their Lands.

M. D. Hart, president of the Audubon Society of Virginia, issues a warning to farmers to guard against the game-hog this season, and to see that he does not begin hunting before the season opens on November 2. Mr. Hart takes a deep interest in all forms of wild life, and is particularly censorious of those hunters who slaughter game for private crops and eat afterwards of killing whole coveys of partridges and whole flocks of turkeys.

"Though there is no law prohibiting the size of the bag," Mr. Hart says, "the time has passed when a hunter who calls himself a sportsman should kill over fifteen or twenty quail a day, or more than 150 in a season. Because some hunters are so fortunately situated that they can hunt three or four days in each week is no reason that they should forget their brother sportsmen, who will not hunt more than three or four days during the whole season."

"If the steady hunter kills beyond moderation, there will be nothing for his less fortunate brother sportsman when he gets the chance to go. The game butchers, hunting day in and day out during
